MERCANTILE LAW

Avtar Singh

Eighth Edition

EASTERN BOOK COMPANY

The new eighth edition of this popular work has been thoroughly revised and updated by the learned author to incorporate up to date amendments in the law and also include the recent landmark cases. The work now covers the important subjects of:

- Law of Contract
- Partnership
- Sale of Goods
- Consumer Protection
- Competition Law
- Negotiable Instruments
- Company Law

The book has long been on the list of recommended books for the use of students of law and commerce, and students of Masters of Business Administration, Chartered Accountancy, Cost and Works Accountancy, Company Secretaryship, etc. The book is also indispensable to practising lawyers and professionals dealing with the subject.

Reviews

The Administrator, National Academy of Administration, Mussorie : If there is a book on the subject of mercantile law which has been universally accepted as a standard book for students, it is the present book by Avtar Singh. The book, when it was first published in 1973, almost drove out of circulation all other books on the subject. Since then the book has become almost indispensable for all those who are concerned with any of the branches of mercantile law.

Kerala University Journal of Legal Studies : A standard text book for students of various disciplines such as business administration, chartered accountancy, company secretaryship and law; a dependable handbook for teachers; an easy-to-understand guide for businessmen and professionals - these are in short the qualities of the book under review, which has stood the test of time and is now in its seventh edition.

MARKETING MANAGEMENT

A South Asian Perspective

13TH EDITION

The South Asian edition of Marketing Management remains the bestselling textbook in the field because it continues to reflect the latest changes in marketing theory and practice. Retaining the original frameworks and concepts so vital to the book, this edition presents a contextually relevant text for students of the subcontinent by incorporating South Asian case studies and examples.

Features

- NEW – Rural marketing memos in each chapter that provide tips and suggestions at all stages of marketing to rural customers, as well as directions in dealing with various marketing decisions
- NEW - A South Asian perspective through new cases from South Asian countries that discuss a variety of aspects, including the socioeconomic characteristics of urban and rural consumers, demographics, and sociocultural nuances
- NEW – Access to the cases of all the international versions of Marketing Management including the USA, China, Middle East, Europe, Africa, Australia, and Canada
- NEW – Breakthrough marketing boxes to highlight innovative and insightful marketing accomplishments by leading organizations
- "Holistic marketing" coverage exploring the emerging concept that everything matters in marketing: internal marketing, integrated marketing, relationship marketing, and socially responsible marketing
- A modular organization, focusing on preserving the strengths and core topics from previous editions, while carefully tightening coverage in every chapter for greater clarity and to give instructors greater flexibility
- Universal applications, including products and services, consumer and business markets, profit and nonprofit organizations, domestic and foreign companies, and low- and high-tech industries

Philip Kotler is the S. C. Johnson & Son Distinguished Professor of International Marketing at Northwestern University.

Kevin Lane Keller is the E. B. Osborn Professor of Marketing at Dartmouth College.

Abraham Koshy is Professor of Marketing at the Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad.

Mithileshwar Jha is Professor of Marketing at the Indian Institute of Management Bangalore.

Each title in this program is part of a collaborative global editorial development process that aligns the talent and expertise of Pearson's authors, editors, and production capabilities from around the world. Titles in the Pearson One program will offer students increased understanding of the global business environment through content and cases with both local and global relevance.

Contemporary Business Communication

Fifth Edition Indian Adaptation

The book prepares students for the accelerated pace of business communication by clearly connecting every topic, example, and exercise to the modern workplace. In addition to the basics of written and oral communication, the book features a practical, how-to introduction to the best practices for using email, voicemail, the Internet, and other innovations in communication technology.

Salient Features:

- Each chapter begins with an on-the-job interview with managers from MNCs, small entrepreneurial companies and nonprofit organizations. All opening vignettes continue at the end of each Chapter with a 3Ps (Problem, Process and Product) activity.
- Continuing examples are used throughout the Chapter (and sometimes carried forward to the next Chapter).
- Mini-cases based on current events appear at the end of each Chapter so that students can practice solving real-world communication problems.
- The text places minor emphasis on traditional technology (such as word processing) and major emphasis on newer technologies (such as teleconferencing, videoconferencing, and video and electronic presentations).
- Every Chapter includes at least one Internet exercise.
- The Reference Manual at the back of the text covers parts of speech in addition to grammar basics, formatting guidelines, and a glossary.
- Urban Systems Case Study CD-ROM being made available with the book is an innovative case study simulation based on the Urban Systems end-of-Chapter continuing case. Within each of the 15 modules students take on the role of an employee at Urban Systems who need to solve basic communication problem.

In this adaptation, materials have been changed, altered and/or deleted to suit the Indian environment.
