① Ghazzali divides mankind into 4 classes:

a) those vieled with veils of pure darkness

b) those veiled with veils of mixed ~~and~~ darkness and light

c) those veiled with veils of pure light

d) those who attain the vision of the Unveiled.

Class I, -- Those veiled with veils of pure darkness.

Atheists --

(a) Naturist ~~who~~ philosophers whose God is nature.

(b) Egotists whose God is self.

Subdivisions of (b) :--

(1) seekers after sensual pleasures (the bestial attributes).

(2) Seekers after dominion ("Arabs, some Kurds and the very numerous fools).

(3) Seekers after filthy lucre

(4) Seekers after vainglory

(2-4) (the ferocious attributes).

Class - II -- Those veiled with veils of mixed Darkness & Light

A. Those whose darkness originates in the Senses.

(1) Image worshippers [Polytheists of the Hellenic (? and Indian) type.]

(2) Worshippers of animate objects of physical beauty. (Some of the most remote Turkish Tribes).

(3) Fire-worshippers. [Magians]

(4) Astrologising Star-Worshippers. [Star-worshippers of Harran? Sabians.]

(5) Sun-worshippers.
(6) Light-worshippers with their dualistic acknowledgement of a supreme correlative Darkness. (Zoroastrians of the cult of Ormuzd & Ahriman)

B. Those whose Darkness originates in the imagination.
(who worship a One Being, sitting [spatially] on his throne).

(1) Corporealists. {p. 11}
[Extreme Hanbalites: Zahirites]
(2) Karramites
(3) Those who have eliminated all spatial ideas in regard to Allah except the literal "up above"
[Ibn Hanbal. (1) Hanbalites [2].

C. Those whose darkness originates in the [Discursive] [3] Intelligence.
[various sorts of Mutakallimin].
(1) Anthropomorphists in respect of the seven Attributes of Allah, "Hearing, Seeing," etc., and especially the word of Allah.

(those who said that the words of Allah has letters and ~~symbols~~ sounds like ours) [Early literalists; Hanbalites: early Ash'arites).

(2) Those who said the words of Allah [1. Faisal al-Tafriqa, p. 10].

2. Averroes adds to these (with justice) the Koran; Mohammed himself; the early Fathers"; al-Ash'ari; and the early Ash'arites -- before the time of Abul Maali, "says Averroes, loc. cit. i.e., of al Juwaini, The Imam Al Haramain, our author's shaikh, d. 478 (see his Al-Kashf an. manahij al-adilla, ed Muller, p. 65 Cairo ed., p. 54).

3. For according to Ghazzali the genuine axiomata of the pure intelligence are infallible. See p. [10] and an important autobiographical passage near the beginning of the Munqidh] is like our mental speech (hadith al-nafs)

[later Ash'arites]

Class - III : -- Those veiled by pure light.

i.e., purged of all anthropomorphism (tashbih)]

(1) Those whose views about the attributes were sound, but who refused to define Allah by means of them: replying to the question "What is the Lord of the World"? by saying "The Lord, who transcends the ideas of those attributes; He the mover and orderer of the Heavens."

[Hasan-al Basri, al-Shafai and others of the Bila kaifa school]

(2) Those who mounted higher than the preceding, in declaring that Allah is the mover of ~~all~~ only the mover of primum mobile (the ninth & outermost Heaven), which causes the movement of the other eight, mediated by their respective angels.

[Sufi-philosophers. (?) Al-Farabi]

(3) Those who mount higher than these {p. 13} again in putting a supreme angel in place of Allah, who now moves the heavens by commanding this supreme Angel, but not immediately by a direct action.

[Sufi philosophers. Al-Ghazzali himself when coram populo (Munqidh, p 11)!]

Class IV. -- The Unveiled who Attain
Those who will predicate nothing whatsoever of Allah, and refuse to allow that he even issues the order for the moving of the primum mobile.
This Commander (Muta) is now a Vicegerent, who is related to the absolute being as the sun to Essential Light or live coal to the Element of Fire.

(1) Adepts who preserve self-consciousness in their Absorption in this Absolute all else being effaced.

(2) Adepts whose self-consciousness is also effaced ("the Fewest of the Few") (al-Hallaj and the extreme Mystics).

a) who attain to this State with a single leap - as Abrahim "Al-khalil" did. {p. 14}

b) who attain to it by stages - as Mohommed "al Habib" did (at the Mi'raj).

- Ghazzali himself, in a passage of remarkable candour, [1] admits that every "Perfect" man has three sets of opinions (madhahib), (a) those of his own environment, (b) those he teaches to inquiress according as they are able to receive them, and (c) those which he believes in secret between Allah and never mentions except to an inner circle of friends ~~and~~ or students.

i) Practice Makes a Man Perfect.
More Practice = More Success.

ii) Extra Ordinary achievement is less about talent than it is about opportunity.

iii) IQ / Intelligence only holds true to a certain threshold. After that other things that have nothing to do with intelligence matter more.
e.g. Divergence Test.
- Write down as many uses as you can think of the following objects:
a) Brick b) Blanket

iv) Divergence tests help to check the creativity & imagination of a person as opposed to IQ test (which test intelligence by asking to sort out the possibility and converging on the right answer).

v) Intellect and achievement are far from perfectly correlated.

vi) Practical Intelligence = knowing what to say to whom, knowing when to say it and knowing how to say it for maximum effect.

vi) A person is affected by the environment he lives in.

vii) Destiny: i.e., birth dates (in what period one is born, demography, family background etc.).

viii) Success arises out of the steady accumulation of advantages. (when and where you are born, what your parents did for living and what were the circumstances of your upbringing and cultural legacies).
